Marketplace

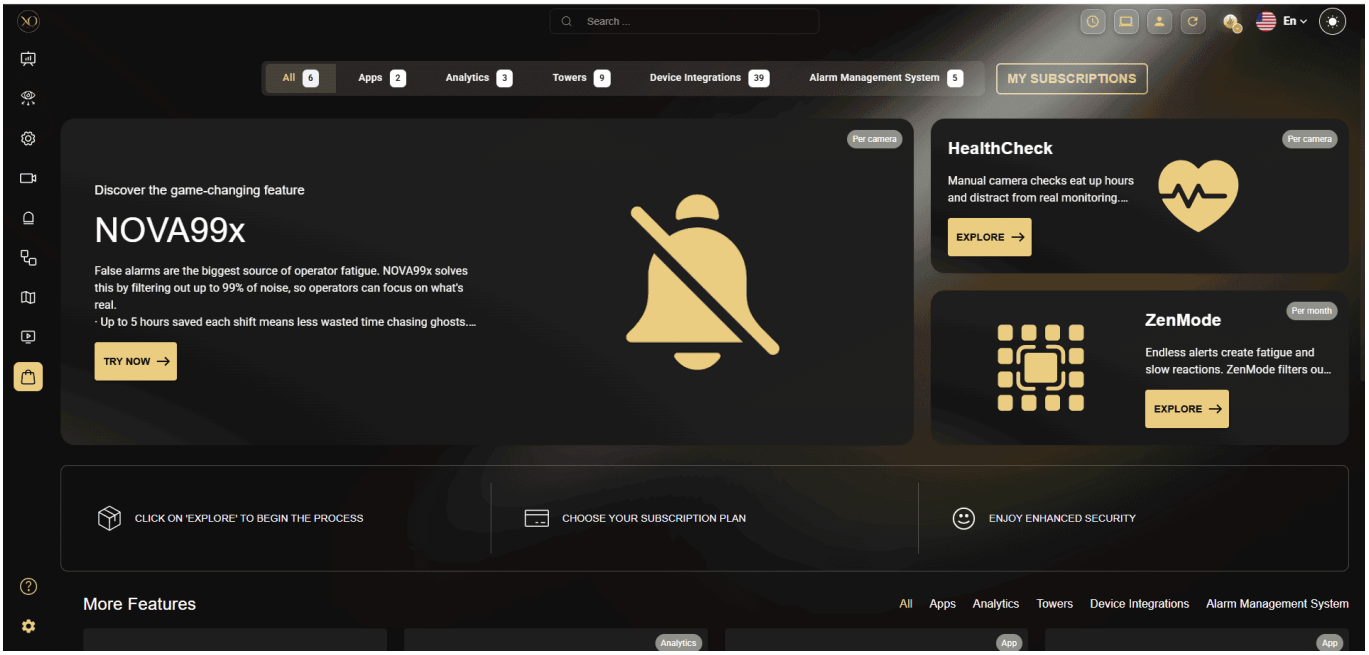
Marketplace

The Marketplace provides access to available integrations, applications, and platform extensions that can enhance the functionality of the system. It allows administrators to discover and enable additional capabilities within the platform.

How It Works

The Marketplace lists available integrations and platform extensions that can be enabled within the platform. Administrators can browse available services and activate additional capabilities to extend the platform's functionality.

Marketplace Interface



The Marketplace interface displays available services and integrations that can be activated or configured within the platform environment.

Available Integrations

Through the Marketplace, users may access additional tools and platform capabilities, including:

- Platform extensions and services
- Integration modules
- Additional operational tools

These options allow organizations to extend the platform based on their operational needs.

Operational Value

The Marketplace enables organizations to expand platform capabilities by integrating additional services and tools without modifying the core system.
